

He is compleat in feature, and in minde,
With all good grace, to grace a Gentleman.

Duk. Bestrew me fir, but if he make this good
He is as worthy for an Emperesse loue,
As meet to be an Emperors Councillor:
Well, Sir: this Gentleman is come to me
With Commendation from great Potentates,
And heere he meanes to spend his time a while,
I thinke 'tis no vn-welcome newes to you.

Val. Should I haue wish'd a thing, it had beene he.

Duk. Welcome him then according to his worth:
Silvia, I speake to you, and you Sir Thurio,
For Valentine, I need not cite him to it,
I will fend him hither to you presently.

Val. This is the Gentleman I told your Ladiship
Had come along with me, but that his Mistresse
Did hold his eyes, lockt in her Christall lookes.

Sil. Be-like that now she hath enfranchis'd them
Vpon some other pawne for fealty.

Val. Nay sure, I thinke she holds them prisoners still.

Sil. Nay then he should be blind, and being blind
How could he see his way to seeke out you?

Val. Why Lady, Loue hath twenty paire of eyes.

Thur. They say that Loue hath not an eye at all.

Val. To see such Louers, Thurio, as your selfe,
Vpon a homely obiekt, Loue can winke.

Sil. Haue done, haue done: here comes the gentleman.

Val. Welcome, deer Protheus: Mistresse, I beseech you Confirm his welcome, with some speciall fauor.

Sil. His worth is warrant for his welcome hether,
If this be he you oft haue wish'd to heare from.

Val. Mistresse, it is: sweet Lady, entertaine him
To be my fellow-servant to your Ladiship.

Sil. Too low a Mistresse for so high a servant.

Pro. Not so, sweet Lady, but too meane a servant
To haue a looke of such a worthy Mistresse.

Val. Leane off discourtie of disability:

Sweet Lady, entertaine him for your Seruant.

Pro. My dutie will I boast of, nothing else.

Sil. And dutie neuer yet did want his need.

Servant, you are welcome to a worthlesse Mistresse.

Pro. Ile die on him that saies so but your selfe.

Sil. That you are welcome?

Pro. That you are worthlesse. (you.)

Thur. Madam, my Lord your father wold speak with

Sil. I wait vpon his pleasure: Come Sir Thurio,

Goe with me: once more, new Seruant welcome;

Ile leane you to confer of home affaires,

When you haue done, we looke too heare from you.

Pro. Wee'll both attend vpon your Ladiship.

Val. Now tell me: how do al from whence you came?

Pro. Your friends are wel, & haue the much comended.

Val. And how doe yours?

Pro. I left them all in health.

Val. How does your Lady? & how thrives your loue?

Pro. My tales of Loue were wont to weary you,

I know you ioy not in a Loue-discourse.

Val. I Protheus, but that life is alter'd now,

I haue done penance for contemning Loue,

Whose high emperious thoughts haue punish'd me

With bitter fasts, with penitentiall groines,

With nightly teares, and daily hart-sore sighes,

For in reuenge of my contempt of loue,

Loue hath chas'd sleepe from my enthralled eyes,

And made them watchers of mine owne hearts sorrow.

O gentle Protheus, Loue's a mighty Lord,

And hath so humbled me, as I confesse

There is no woe to his correction,

Nor to his Seruice, no such ioy on earth:

Now, no discourse, except it be of loue:

Now can I breake my fast, dine, sup, and sleepe,

Vpon the very naked name of Loue.

Pro. Enough; I read your fortune in your eye:

Was this the Idoll, that you worship so?

Val. Euen She; and is she not a heauenly Saint?

Pro. No; But she is an earthly Paragon.

Val. Call her diuine.

Pro. I will not flatter her.

Val. O flatter me: for Loue delights in praises.

Pro. When I was sick, you gaue me bitter pills,

And I must minister the like to you.

Val. Then speake the truth by her; if not diuine,

Yet let her be a principallitie,

Soueraigne to all the Creatures on the earth.

Pro. Except my Mistresse.

Val. Sweet: except not any,

Except thou wilt except against my Loue.

Pro. Haue I not reason to prefer mine owne?

Val. And I will help thee to prefer her to:

Shee shall be dignified with this high honour,

To beare my Ladies traine, left the base earth

Should from her vesture chance to steale a kisse,

And of so great a fauor growing proud,

Disdaine to roote the Sommer-swelling flowre,

And make rough winter euerslastingly.

Pro. Why Valentine, what Bragadisme is this?

Val. Pardon me (Protheus) all I can is nothing,

To her, whose worth, make other worthies nothing;

Shee is alone.

Pro. Then let her alone.

Val. Not for the world: why man, she is mine owne,

And I as rich in hauing such a lewell

As twenty Seas, if all their sand were pearle,

The water, Nectar, and the Rocks pure gold.

Forgiue me, that I doe not dreame on thee,

Because thou seest me doate vpon my loue:

My foolish Riual that her Father likes

(Onely for his possessions are so huge)

Is gone with her along, and I must after,

For Loue (thou know'st) is full of ialousie.)

Pro. But shee lones you? (howe,

Val. I, and we are betroathd: nay more, our marriage

With all the cunning manner of our flight

Determin'd of: how I must climbe her window,

The Ladder made of Cords, and all the means

Plotted, and 'greed on for my happinesse.

Good Protheus goe with me to my chamber,

In these affaires to aid me with thy counsaile.

Pro. Goe on before: I shall enquire you forth:

I must vnto the Road, to dis-embarque

Some necessaries, that I needs must vse,

And then Ile presently attend you.

Val. Will you make hake? Exit.

Pro. I will.

Euen as one heate, another heate expels,

Or as one naile, by strength driues our another.

So the remembrance of my former Loue

Is by a newer obiekt quite forgotten,

It is mine, or Valentines praise?

Her true perfection, or my false transgression?

That makes me reasonlesse, to reason thus?

Shee is faire: and so is Julia that I loue, (That (That I did loue, for now my loue is thaw'd,

Which like a waxen Image gainst a fire
Beares no impression of the thing it was.)
Me thinkes my zeale to Valentine is cold,
And that I loue him not as I was wont:
O, but I looe his Lady too much,
And that's the reason I loue him so little.
How shall I doate on her with more aduice,
That thus without aduice begin to loue her?
Tis but her picture I haue yet beheld;
And that hath dazeld my reasons light:
But when I looke on her perfections,
There is no reason, but I shall be blinde.
If I can checke my erring loue, I will;
If not, to compassse her Ile vse my skill.

Exit.

Scena Quinta.

Enter Speed and Launce.

Speed. Launce, by mine honesty welcome to Padua.
Laun. Forswear not thy selfe, sweet youth, for I am not welcome. I reckon this alwaies, that a man is neuer vndon till hee be hang'd, nor neuer welcome to a place, till some certaine shot be paid, and the Hostesse say welcome.

Speed. Come on you mad-cap: Ile to the Ale-house with you presently; where, for one shot of five pence, thou shalt haue five thousand welcomes: But firha, how did thy Master part with Madam Julia?

Laun. Marry after they clos'd in earnest, they parted very fairely in iest.

Speed. But shall she marry him?

Laun. No.

Speed. How then? shall he marry her?

Laun. No, neither.

Speed. What, are they broken?

Laun. No; they are both as whole as a fish.

Speed. Why then, how stands the matter with them?

Laun. Marry thus, when it stands well with him, it stands well with her.

Speed. What an asse art thou, I vnderstand thee not.

Laun. What a blocke art thou, that thou canst not?

My staffe vnderstands me?

Speed. What thou saist?

Laun. I, and what I do too: looke thee, Ile but leane, and my staffe vnderstands me.

Speed. It stands vnder thee indeed.

Laun. Why, stand vnder: and vnder-stand is all one.

Speed. But tell me true, wilt be a match?

Laun. Aske my dogge, if he say I, it will: if hee say no, it will: if hee shake his taile, and say nothing, it will.

Speed. The conclusion is then, that it will.

Laun. Thou shalt neuer get such a secret from me, but by a parable.

Speed. 'Tis well that I get it so: but Launce, how saist thou that that my master is become a notable Louer?

Laun. I neuer knew him otherwise.

Speed. Then how?

Laun. A notable Lubber: as thou reportest him to
